Joining Hands with Local Agencies and Schools - Changhua Branch Invites You to Contribute Love and Send Warmth on March 5th

The Changhua Branch, Administrative Enforcement Agency, Ministry of Justice (hereinafter “Changhua Branch”) is set to host the “Guashan Court Auction Market-Contributing Love and Sending Warmth” on March 5, 2024, at Changhua Branch's Nantou Office of Administrative Enforcement Officer (No. 1-30, Zhongzheng Rd., Nantou City). The event will not only feature a variety of items for auction but also includes participation from local institutions and charitable organizations in Nantou, who will set up booths for awareness advocacy and charity sales. Meanwhile, for promoting law-related education, the event will also incorporate a “Little Clerks Training” where students from nearby Guanghua Elementary School will assist with the auctions and gain a deeper understanding of administrative procedures through a simulated auction, enhancing their respect for law and governance.

Originally held quarterly in a parking lot next to the Changhua County Local Tax Bureau since July 2022, three editions of Guashan Court Auction Market have been held and has become well-known among Changhua residents as one of the features of the Changhua Branch after being featured on local Facebook groups like “Matters of Changhua People”. To extend these benefits to Nantou residents and help businesses impacted by the pandemic manage their tax liabilities through the sale of seized items, this special edition of the Market is being held in Nantou at Changhua Branch's Nantou Office of Administrative Enforcement Officer. In order to expand publicity and allow more people to witness this meaningful event, the Changhua Branch has collaborated with local agencies for awareness advocacy. Not only have they invited Nantou Branch of National Taxation Bureau of the Central Area, Ministry of Finance and the Nantou County Government Taxation Bureau to provide tax information at the event, but the Nantou County Veterans Service Office of the Veterans Affairs Council, R.O.C. is also joining the advocacy for the first time by offering information on veteran employment and care, and provide consultations for common legal issues faced by veterans. Additionally, the Nantou Detention Center, Agency of Corrections, Ministry of Justice will introduce its own products such as snowflake nougat and almond tiles. With the participation of these partners, the “Guashan Court Auction Market-Contributing Love and Sending Warmth” sale is expected to attract a significant crowd, thereby maximizing its impact.

Based on the core principle of “Justice and Care”, the Changhua Branch has long collaborated with charitable organizations to support vulnerable obligors. Among these, the Huashan Foundation was established with the mission to serve the elderly, adhering to the principles of “aging in place”, “aging at home”, and “community mutual aid”, to provide a professional, respected, and dignified care model for the elderly. This event also features a charity stall by the Huashan Foundation's Caotun Love Angel Station, selling items such as glove puppets and cups. In addition, upholding the principle of compassion, maintaining a spirit of humanity and respect for life, the Genesis Foundation collaborates with kind-hearted individuals in society to conduct social services for vegetative patients, the elderly, and the destitute through a collective small-efforts-make-big-results approach. At this event, the Genesis Foundation's Caotun branch will also have a stall selling second-hand items, daily necessities, and snacks. There will be a fundraising activity involving the collection of receipts. The public is warmly invited to participate in these charitable efforts, supporting and encouraging these social welfare organizations that work tirelessly for the underprivileged groups.

To foster a sense of legality and responsibility among the youth, the Changhua Branch has arranged for fifth-grade students from Guanghai Elementary School-a neighboring school, to participate in the “Little Clerks Training”. Prior to the event, enforcement officers visited schools to conduct outreach on their operations and preview the auction day's procedures. On the event day, the schoolchildren are tasked to assist at the booths with the sale of items, including those for charity and those auctioned off. Under the guidance of enforcement personnel, the students will take turns acting as junior auctioneers and participating bidders. Through hands-on experience with the auction (or sale) process, the initiative aims to plant the seeds of lawfulness in the students, which will then spread to their families and the wider community.

Details about the items for sale in the “Guanghai Court Auction Market-Contributing Love and Sending Warmth” are now available on the Guanghai Branch's Facebook page and official website, where online brochures can be viewed. The public is encouraged to like, share, and invite friends to participate in this meaningful event on March 5th at the Nantou Office of Administrative Enforcement Officer (No. 1-30, Zhongzheng Rd., Nantou City). Join us to contribute to a great cause and take home exceptional values while supporting community welfare!
